Doors open at 9 a.m.

The 5th annual QUARRYVILLE LIBRARY BENEFIT AUCTION is scheduled for Saturday, April 22, 2017, at 9am, at the Hoffman Building in Quarryville. We are again seeking donations that can be sold at the auction including vacation stays, high quality artwork and handmade items, antiques, collectibles, children's items and toys, new or gently used small appliances, sports equipment, household and gardening items, gift certificates, tickets, and quilts. This year we will also hold a silent auction and tag sale. Please drop items at the library during business hours, at the circulation desk, before March 15. For pick up or more information, email qvlpresident@quarryvillelibrary.org or call Ron Althoff at 717-786-4267. The auction is our Library's largest fundraising event and we need your help. We are grateful to all donors, and thank Santander[®] Bank for being the title sponsor.

Pushing the Limits Science Book Club

Pushing the Limits is a reading, viewing, and discussion program for adults in communities served by rural libraries, made possible by a grant from the National Science Foundation. Our first book club meeting will be held on March 18th at 11:30 and our co-facilitator will be author Jon

McGoran. We have free copies of the book Arctic Drift by Clive Cussler for participants.

Spring Book Sale

Our Spring book sale will be held on Friday, March 24th from 10-6 and Saturday, March 25th from 10-2. We've been storing up books in our new shed for months, so come on out and grab a few to read on your front porch! If you can't make this sale, be on the lookout for our new monthly sales (our first one is April 25th), when we will open the Pennington Room bookshelves and the bookstore to feature popular authors and titles.
