

YOUTH SERVICES NARRATIVE

JULY 2017

July was VERY busy here at the Quarryville Library, with the summer reading program—and all the accompanying events—in full swing. Over 1000 people have signed up and taken logs, with nearly 300 finished already. The logs seem to be especially easy to use this year, and the supplemental activities are extremely popular with the kids.

I wrapped up the Kids Parachute Camp (for children ages 8 – 12) and the Super Readers Program that met at the library. The Parachute Camp was exceptionally popular, so I plan to hold it during school breaks this winter and spring (depending on the school schedule). The first two SECA meetings of the Super Readers went very well, and I have one more meeting in August.

The Junior Master Gardener Club is going fairly well, despite the occasionally rainy weather. The group will continue to meet through the end of August on Fridays and Tuesdays. There are plans to start the curriculum in September.

August is upon us, which means it's time to look forward to planning for the fall and winter! The fall Danger Club sessions have been planned, with all-new activities to keep the kids interested. I'm also planning a special "Blind Date with a Banned Book" for banned books week in September, and some special programs for Teen Read Week in October.
